Supervision Not

as Important as

the Actual Work

I can't help but agree with the Hempstead county health society that the state's plan to set up a special health office for a three-county district is unfeasible and unnecessary.

The plan, to lump Clark, Nevada and Hempstead counties in a single district, with a director who would spend one day a week in this county supervising the health program, drew criticism at the local doctors' meeting Thursday night.

Hempstead, under the plan, would be asked to contribute its pro-rata share of the physician "supervisor's" salary, costing perhaps $1,000 a year of local tax money.

But Hempstead already has a county physician, a county health nurse, and an assistant.

The average citizen will wonder if the existing county service shouldn't be reinforced, before wandering off into an experiment with multi-county health groups.

If $1,000 more is to be spent in the name of public medicine let's spend it on the firing line—not in supervisory "headquarters" miles away.

There is great pressure now-days for employment in nice, supervisory jobs — with someone else doing the work. It's a vicious trend, one that in the public interest should be cut off close to the neck.

I represent middle-ground thinking on medical matters, neither supporting the doctors' position in its entirety, nor socialized medicine. But this "supervisory" proposal is a political force—a cynical plan to take the public's money and give absolutely nothing in return.

Mines Sink Five American Ships

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP) — Five U. S. ships have been sunk and 20 damaged by enemy mines, gunfire or bombs during the Korean campaign, the navy said yesterday. The casualties reported from these actions included 102 killed, 31 missing in action and 222 wounded.

Four of the ships sunk were mine sweepers, the fifth an army tug. All sank after hitting enemy mines. The minesweepers were the USS Helena and USS Paul. The cruiser Rochester suffered very slight damage from a near miss by an aerial bomb during the incident, landing the report said.

Damage to the Helena, hit in two separate actions was described as slight and superficial, respectively. The total of 34 vessels sunk and damaged is more than twice as many as previously reported by the navy here. A spokesman said yesterday's announcement was made after a request was sent to the Far East command for a complete roundup of navy losses in the campaign.

King Gets Quick Mexican Divorce

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 3 (AP) — Sheppard (Abdullah) King III, with a Mexican quickie divorce in his pocket, made big plans today to wed his beloved belly dancer.

King got rid of his wife, curvaceous Gloria, at a 30 minute session yesterday in a civil court at Juarez, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande.

Next it's off to the land of the Nile and the arms of Egyptian torso tosser Samia Gamal for the sandy-haired Houston oil heir.

King met Samia in Paris and courted her there and in Cairo. After their love blossomed, he embraced the Moslem faith and acquired the name Abdullah.

Magnolia Takes Hope Bobcats by 12-6 Tally

The Panthers of Magnolia eked out a 12 to 6 victory of the Bobcats last night in sub-freezing weather. The contest was played on a soggy field.

On several occasions the Bobcats had scoring chances but were able to tally only one time. Orville Bright broke loose for 76 yards in the first quarter but was caught from behind on the Magnolia 10. They made 9 more yards but no touchdown.

Magnolia scored shortly before the half with Rogers tossing a short pass to Whalen who raced for the tally. The entire play covered 50 yards.

Magnolia scored again in the third period. England's punt was taken by Whalen on the 50 and the fleet Panther back raced all the way behind a couple of good blocks by Cole and Dayton.

Hope's tally came in the final two minutes when Monty Monts blocked a punt that rolled out of bounds on the Magnolia 10. Baber tossed to Bright in the end zone and that ended the scoring.

It was a bitter cold night that held down offensive play. The Hope line played a stellar game and Magnolia was able to gain only 94 yards rushing while the Bobcats picked up 100.

Hope made two first downs to Magnolia's six; Hope threw 10 passes, completed 2 and had 3 intercepted. Magnolia tried 10 completed 2, no interceptions and one went for touchdown. Each team drew five yards in penalties.

Troops Can Survive Atomic Blast

Las Vegas, Nov. 3 (UP) — The world's first atomic maneuver showed conclusively today that troops in protected positions could survive a medium-sized atomic blast within 1,200 yards of the detonation.

Informed sources said sheep were tethered in such positions last Thursday when a B-29 dropped a medium-sized A-bomb which exploded 1,200 feet above them.

After the explosion, the sources said, the sheep were dazed for a time, but they recovered from the initial shockwaves with no apparent ill effects.

However, four dogs left in the open were killed.

The sources said the tests indicated that soldiers protected by shelters of some type where they would escape the tremendous shock and surface radiation could survive the blast within a distance of about three-quarters of a mile or less.

It was learned that 90 per cent of the regular weapons that were placed in simulated combat positions within 1,000 to 1,500 yards of the air burst could have been fired immediately after the detonation and would have been fully effective.

A few medium tanks in the area could have been operated. One tank was reported moved two inches by the blast, but was not damaged. Jeeps and other vehicles were in usable condition. The only damage to them was broken glass.

Two factors were indicated that would temporarily reduce the effectiveness of a soldier. Unless he turned away from the blast or wore dark glasses, he would be temporarily blinded by the brilliant flash.

The second factor encountered was the shock wave. Without full protection from the blast wave he would possibly be knocked down with force enough to be injured.

Of the 4,500 troops present for the test, 1,500 actually took part and 3,000 military personnel from over the nation observed the blast. They sat on the ground, backs to the detonation, and were required to wait three seconds before they turned around to look at the fire ball.

Despite the fact they were seven miles away, they had to brace themselves on their elbows to keep from being knocked to the ground.

Atomic scientists are taking a breather after completing four detonations in the present series of tests. The next detonation is not expected until Monday — if the weather permits.

Here's a Chance to Take Trips to Far-Off Planets

Have you seen this man? He's CHRIS WELKIN, Planeteer, last reported somewhere in space on the trail of interplanetary adventures. You'll find him on the Hope Star comic page Monday in the new daily strip that's "out of this world" for thrills and excitement.

Chris Welkin is a daring young rocket expert of the year 1999 — a year when many of today's dreams of space travel will be close to realization. He gets his name from the English word "welkin," meaning vault of heaven, and St. Christopher, patron saint of travelers.

This "traveler of the heavens" has two friends with him on his astral adventures — Dr. William J. Q. Budd, scientist, mathematics professor and unintentional comedian; and Rocky Starr, a teenage college student with typical ability to get in and out of trouble at the drop of a space helmet.

Garbed in strange pressure suits, this intrepid trio rockets through the meteor-specked universe, clashing with hostile inhabitants of other worlds or pausing to explore some friendly-looking planets. Welkin's imaginative exploits, accomplished within the realm of scientific possibility, will give you a realistic look at the wonders man will some day find out in space.

Polar Bear Offered to L. R. Zoo

If the polar bear that escaped from a circus near Mt. Ida Wednesday is captured alive, it will be given to the Little Rock zoo.

Len Davenport of Galesburg, Tex., owner of the Campa brothers' circus, said here yesterday that he had asked friends of Governor McMath to request the governor to appeal to sportsmen not to shoot the valuable bear.

"If they take that bear alive, I will give it to the Little Rock zoo," said Davenport. Arkansas has been good to me and I want the kids to see a polar bear.

(In Little Rock, Zoo Director Raymond Gray said "We would very much like to have the polar bear. We don't have one."

The white bear, a native of Denmark, was one of five animals which escaped when a circus van overturned. The leopards were shot by hunters, and a tame black bear was recaptured. A fourth tame black bear still is at large.

The polar bear is valued between $600 and $1,000 by Davenport. There is a $200 reward for its capture.

Wants No Risks

Fayetteville, Nov. 3 (AP) — Governor McMath said today the circus polar bear at large in Montgomery county should be taken alive "if that can be done without risk to human life."

Commenting on a plea by the Campa Bros. circus that the sportsmen of the state be urged by the governor not to kill the valuable bear, McMath said:

"I think it would be fine for the bear to be captured alive if that can be done without risk to human life. But if there's danger of any one getting hurt, I'd rather the bear be shot to death."

State Flag to Be Used in Korea

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP) — An Arkansas state flag will be flying from a U. S. tank in Korea before long.

Cpl. J. R. Hilburn of Springdale, Ark., recently wrote Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) from Korea asking his help in getting an Arkansas state flag.

Fulbright's staff is having one made and will rush it to Hilburn. The Arkansas corporal wrote that he wanted a small state flag because "I am a tank commander and the only one from Arkansas in my company and have got permission to fly a state flag 7 on the antenna of my radio."

He wrote incidentally, that he has been awarded four Purple Heart decorations in his three years overseas. He hopes to come home in a few months.

Jack Ringling, of Fulbright's staff, didn't know just what size flag Corporal Hilburn had in mind but finally settled on one 18 by 12 inches.

He checked with the army and learned that while there is no regulation on the flying of the state flags on tanks it's been a custom to allow the practice.

The National Geographic Society says the hot dog is generally believed to be the invention of a New Polo Grounds concessionaire about 1900.

School Building Program Is Nearly Complete

A $300,000 school building program in Hope District 1-A is nearing completion, it was announced today by Superintendent James H. Jones.

Monday, November 5, Junior high school students will meet for classes in their new building. During the current school year junior high students have been holding classes in the high school.

The new $100,000 structure is complete except for landscaping of grounds and sidewalks.

It was also announced that the new Hopeville grade school will be ready by Thanksgiving.

This will give the Hope system two new grade schools and an annex to the high school for negro students and a new junior high building for whites.

Big British Force Now in Canal Area

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 3 (UP) — A mighty British force of 21,000 men — 16,000 of them front-line fighters — converted their Suez Canal zone camps today into potential fortresses against a threatened Egyptian underground attack.

At the same time, the vanguard of 1,000 servicemen's families to be sent home to Britain from the troubled zone board the Liner Austrias.

They left their husbands to face the twin threats of an Egyptian non-cooperation campaign and an outright war from scores of armed "liberation" battalions springing up throughout the nation. The Cairo government has taken no steps so far to curb the underground's announced plans for warfare.

To meet the underground threat, Britain flew in its entire 1st Infantry Division composed of tough, anti-terrorist veterans of the Holy Land war three years ago. Planes ferried in the division from Tripoli yesterday.

Someone Blew Out the Flame at Courthouse

Visitors to the Hempstead County Courthouse on Thursday and Friday jokingly accused officials of working harder and faster than ever before. If they were there was a good reason. They had to in order to keep warm.

The building heating system went out Thursday just as the weather began to turn cold, and there has been no heat at the courthouse for the past two days.

On Thursday morning Judge, litigants and court officials shivered through the trial of one Chambers case in an icy courtroom. Judge James H. Pickett finally adjourned court and went home.

Most of the offices in the building closed early Thursday, and some of them did not open at all on Friday. Only those few hardy souls who had to do so stayed in the frigid building. Whether that included any prisoners in the county jail could not be learned immediately.

The situation was due to a defective flue connected with the boiler of the central heating system. Building Superintendent H. E. Reid said today that workmen were making the necessary repairs over the week-end and that he hoped the heating system would be on again by Monday morning.

Several years ago a defective flue caused an explosion at the courthouse which ripped out a part of the inside walls on the second floor. Since then no chances are taken for a repeat performance and when the system starts acting up it is shut off immediately and experts called. Officials who remember the first blast find no fault with that policy. They prefer the cold to a blast.

Workmen repairing the plant said today that when the present repairs are completed the system would be in excellent shape and would probably give no further trouble for years.

The Diamond Cafe, Third and Elm streets, will reopen in completely overhauled quarters this Sunday after a shutdown of 22 days.

The dining room has been redecorated in forest green and gold-leafed. New equipment has been installed in the kitchen and bakery to increase efficiency and service — and the entire air-conditioning plant will be replaced with a new and larger machine in January preparatory to the 1952 summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carroll, and Mrs. Pauline Tyner of their staff, spent the 22-day vacation in Miami Beach, New Orleans, and Atlanta, on a 5,500 mile tour — most of the time being in Florida.

The course is designed to give personnel training in aircraft familiarization, survival and emergency equipment and other basic skills including blueprint reading, handtools, and aircraft gunnery.

Killing Frost Covers All of Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Arkansas Friday night and early Saturday experienced the coldest weather most localities had ever seen for this early in the fall.

At Little Rock, for example, the temperature fell to 21 degrees. The previous low for Nov. 3 was 29 degrees in 1909.

Coldest points in the state were Fayetteville and Gilbert. (Searcy county), both of which had minimums at 14 degrees. Taylor and Camden in south Arkansas the thermometer skidded to 18 degrees. The highest minimum reported to the U. S. weather bureau at Little Rock was 23 degrees at Texarkana.

It was clear and sunny in most of Arkansas Saturday following several days of cloudy weather and Friday's premature snowfall.

A killing frost first of the season — accompanied the clear weather, and the many Arkansians who had commented on the fact that snow fell before a severe frost now had their frost too.

Weather Bureau Meteorologist W. C. Hickmon confirmed Saturday what the old-timers had been saying — that it is unusual in Arkansas to have a snow before a killing frost.

Low temperatures Saturday morning included: Dardanelle 20 degrees, Black Rock 17, Morrilton 22, Batesville 15, Newport 18, Arkadelphia 20, Fort Smith 20, Paragould 15, Pine Bluff 20, Walnut Ridge 17 and Phippen 13.

Memphis, just across the Mississippi river from East Arkansas, reported a minimum of 20 degrees, reported an early snow on record and pelted Arkansas Thursday night and Friday, causing, among other things, the postponement of several high school football games.

The snow melted as it fell in most central and southern sections, but it stuck in the northwest where temperatures dipped below the freezing mark early in the day. Fayetteville, Fort Smith, Green Forest, Morrilton, Searcy and Huntsville. It stopped snowing late Friday.

The freezing weather may damage Arkansas' late cotton crop. Miles McPeak, agricultural statistician at Little Rock, said a heavy freeze could kill the late crop. He said there is quite a bit of cotton still to be picked in northwest Arkansas.

The weather bureau said the snow and cold was the result of a cold air mass moving across the nation from Canada.

Cold Weekend in Store for Most of U. S.

By The Associated Press

It looks like a cold weekend over most of the nation with not much relief in sight from an early touch of wintry weather.

The unseasonable cold and snow came out across the country, even dipping into the southland. Record low temperatures were reported in many areas in the season's most severe cold.

Only the extreme southeast and southwest desert regions escaped the brisk breeze, snow and rain. The day's forecast of continued cold and snow and rain in some sections — meant heavy wraps for the thousands planning an attendance at football games.

The central and mountain states were the frigid areas yesterday with sub-zero temperatures from the Rockies to Lake Superior.

Snow fell over wide sections of the South from Alabama to New Mexico. The early season snowfall hit most of Arkansas, with falls measuring up to six inches. Fall timers said it was the first time they had seen snow on green leaves.

Light snow and flurries pelted areas in Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and most of Kentucky. The fall at Nashville measured two inches. The snow along the northern rim of Louisiana and Mississippi was the earliest on record.

No more snow appeared in prospect for the southland but forecasters said there was an immediate end of the chilly blazes.

It was below freezing in many southern cities only today. Memphis 34; Nashville 20; Birmingham 28; Chattanooga 30; and Atlanta and Montgomery, Ala., 31. At the same time it was 78 in Miami.

But cooler weather was slated for parts of southern Florida over the weekend. And freezing weather was forecast for northern Florida Sunday morning. Which would threaten tender truck crops.

A killing freeze also was predicted for the winter vegetable areas around Laredo, Texas Sunday. At least seven deaths in Texas were attributed to the sub-freezing cold. Motor travel in Texas and in many other states was hazardous because of icy highways.

A warm wind pushed into Denver last night, sending temperatures to 44 above as compared to a high six below earlier yesterday. Oregon also reported some warming in prospect after sub-freezing readings yesterday. It was 10 above in Baker yesterday.

Heavy rain fell last night through the Appalachians and eastward to the Atlantic coast and from the South Atlantic states to southern New England.

There was snow west of the Appalachians from the Tennessee to Ohio valleys northward to the lower Great Lakes region. Montana was pelted with a mixture of rain and sleet. There were snow flurries in the upper Great Lakes region.

More wintry weather may come in November, the weather bureau in Washington said yesterday. A long-range forecast, the bureau said, indicates colder than average weather over most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation except for coastal areas along the Gulf of Mexico and Atlantic seaboard. The coldest was expected hit the central plains and Great Lakes region.

Probers Not Through With Caudle

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP)—House investigators of scandals in the federal tax gathering service aren't through questioning Theron Lamar Caudle, assistant attorney general in charge of tax prosecutions.

Now they want a look at his income tax returns.

Just what they expect to learn, they may have learned, has not leaked out of the series of closed-door sessions. The investigating ways and means subcommittee has been dealing with Caudle.

After a three-hour meeting late yesterday, Chairman King (D-Calif.) told reporters:

"The Caudle matter is not closed. He will be brought back for further questioning."

Caudle told reporters: "I answered all the committee's questions, and I have no comment."

The committee's request for a look at Caudle's income tax returns came earlier in the day.

Caudle's name was brought before the committee this week when he confirmed reports that he made a trip to Italy last summer as part of two wine merchants' check-up of back accounts they had there. Caudle said he went along as a friend and advisor of the two merchants.

Attorney General McGrath has said he knew about the trip, that he thought Caudle did nothing "improper," but he probably would have advised against it had he known more about it.

Rep. Curtis (R-Mo.) called yesterday for the ouster of both Caudle and McGrath. Curtis said in a statement that McGrath should be fired for condoning the trip.

Caudle's name also has come up, along with that of Jettie Larson, head of the government's general services administration, in connection with some oil lease speculation. Both men have denied any wrong doing. Larson said he had done "nothing illegal" in investing in oil, and had lost money anyway.

Caudle said he disposed of his holdings when he learned his name was being used to promote the oil venture.

The committee's investigation began last summer to check on reports of widespread misdeeds among collectors of internal revenue, has resulted in resignation, dismissal or suspension of nearly a score of revenue agents. Two collectors are under indictment, and President Truman has announced he will recommend to Congress that collectors now political appointees be brought under civil service.

Firm names can be trademarked.

Drive Opens to Curb Vice in Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 3 (AP)—American and German authorities have opened a big drive against black marketeering and vice in U. S. troop areas in Germany, it was disclosed today.

Both military and German police are combing the "hot spots" where soldiers congregate. They are looking for the shady dealers and the loose women who always follow troops.

Orders also have gone out to pick up any soldiers caught dealing with black marketeers or living in what the army calls "illegal billets" with their German girl friends.

A recent raid in nearby Hanau netted large quantities of coffee and cigarettes bought from army post exchanges and sold into the German black market for many times the original cost.

The same raid caught 25 known prostitutes and found six soldiers in "illegal billets."

In Frankfurt, it was learned that 97 black marketeers have been arrested in recent weeks.

Americans and Germans were warned by army post newspapers that even an attempt to negotiate a black market deal can result in a fine of 5,000 marks ($1,100) and a year in jail.

A warning also was given to the numerous displaced persons engaged in black marketeering that the German government now has authority to expel foreigners caught in illegal practices.

These displaced persons lived for several years after the war under Allied protection.

The German Hotel and Restaurant association was called upon to help in the drive by making its members clean up their places.

German proprietors were urged to call the military police when soldiers cause any trouble in their establishments.

The army has declared scores of bars "off limits" to soldiers until they clean out their undesirable customers.

Met Singer Picks Best Singers

Hollywood, Nov. 3 (AP)—Put a Metropolitan opera star in Hollywood and what does she do?

She picks a "tenorist" list just like a movie queen.

Blanche Tehborn, a sexy "Dorothy" herself, today picked the tenorist male voices Sinatra leads the pack but the Crosby's win on points.

Here's her list in this order:

1. Frank Sinatra. This fellow sings with a "magnetic mist" quality, she says.
2. Ezio Pinza. He's got "mature and full-blown sex."
3. Robert Merrill of the Met. "Romantically exhilarating and carefree."
4. Jean Sablon. "French—enough said."
5. Bing Crosby. This voice "sings its fingers off sex."
6. Gary Crosby. This famous son of a famous papa has a voice with the "quality of refreshing and impulsive sex." Let the boys up at Stanford where Gary is a freshman toss that one around.
7. Nicola Rossini-Lombi of the San Francisco Opera Co. "Flery and turbulent."
8. Fernando Lamas. MGM's new answer to Valentino, they hope. His voice has "the sexiest South American appeal."
9. Russell Nype of "Call Me Madam" fame. This horn-rimmed, middle-aged refugee from a Yale weekend slings with "placed emotion."
10. Arthur Godfrey. This voice is "bovish, the type you want to mother."

Absent from the list, without comment, was Miss Tehborn's co-star in "The Great Caruso." Asked why she had omitted Mario Lanza, she said only:

"I just didn't put him on." Who can think of a better reason?

Keown—Green Nuptials

Miss Bonnie Fay Green became the bride of Oliver Page Keown Jr. in a ceremony performed Sunday, October 21, in First Methodist Church, Arkadelphia. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Green, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Page Keown of Prescott.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums against a background of greenery. Tapers were lighted by Miss Phyllis Ann Kingerly and Miss Floyen Hullock, cousins of the bride. Mrs. H. Grady Smith, organist and Miss Amy Mackey, vocalist, were in charge of music. Rev. John B. Hefley read the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown fashioned with lace yoke and pearl encrusted collar. Her French illusion veil fell from a halo of pearl orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, tuberoses, lace leaves and pearls. Miss Bobby Lou Pounds was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Johnnie Sue Helms, Miss Margaret Gaskin, Miss Sammie Crawford and Miss Juanita Huckabee. Diane Wightman was flower girl, and Jimmy Calhoun, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Nash Pounds was best man. Ushers were Billy Joe Kingerly, cousin of the bride, Sonny Wilson, A. C. Rowe and Denver Huckabee, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. The couple will live in Arkadelphia where Mr. Keown attends Henderson State Teachers College.

Those from Prescott who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Keown, Mrs. M. H. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Owen, Miss Pat Owen, Mrs. J. E. Regan, Mrs. Loomis Farger, and Bibbie Stewart.

Mrs. Archie Johnson Hostess to '37 Club

Attractive arrangements of roses, dahlias and marigolds decorated the home of Mrs. Archie Johnson on Tuesday afternoon when she entertained the members of the '37 Contact Club.

The high score award was won by Mrs. Jess Hays Jr. The Halloween motif was carried out in the table appointments and delightful dessert course that was served to members: Mrs. Hays, Mrs. Frank Gilbert, Mrs. C. P. Arnold Jr., Mrs. Jack Harrell, Mrs. A. G. Regnier, Mrs. F. G. Brummett, Mrs. D. L. McRae Jr., Mrs. Ralph Gordon and two tea guests, Mrs. Don Buchanan of Tulsa, Okla. and Mrs.

Another Blood Purge Planned by Chinese

San Francisco, Nov. 3 (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai has warned that more blood purges are coming in his troubled homeland, which he bluntly calls "economically backward."

At the same time, he has pledged "strict economy" in government and an unrelenting campaign to "resist American aggression and aid Korea."

Behind radio only yesterday, Chou said that he had detailed a broadsheet the long and detailed speech by Chou, which it said was made Oct. 3 at the national committee meeting of the political consultative conference in Peking.

Apparently the Red leaders of China pondered awhile before announcing to the world a speech that told of a sea of trouble behind the bamboo curtain.

The speech as monitored here by the Associated Press, referred repeatedly to the troubles the Peking regime was having with its "land reform" program.

Chou remarked that Chinese who resist Communist dicta a torpor "were reluctant to accept their extinction lying down."

Land reform was a popular feature of the Communist program in the early days. It called for wide distribution of land seized from wealthy landlords and the more affluent among the peasants.

Reports seeping out of China, however, have said that the dispossessed have been joined in their resistance by many beneficiaries of the program, who found that high taxes made their lot as bad as before.

Western Union Closes Wires to Gamblers

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Western Union Telegraph company has ordered a nationwide ban in use of its wires for sending money orders relating to bets.

The company action, announced yesterday, followed a conviction Thursday of the firm and its manager at Bridgeton, N.J., on misdemeanor charges. The state contended the western union office there handled $300,000 a year in horse race bets.

A seven-man, five-woman jury returned a verdict of guilty against the company and the manager, Charles H. Frank, 50, for "accepting money orders addressed to alleged gamblers."

The ban on "wager messages," the company said, was issued to protect its employees from possible criminal prosecution. It will not affect sending of other money orders.

The firm, which plans to appeal the Bridgeton trial decision, issued a statement to employees saying: "The company's decision is based solely on the obvious necessity of protecting our employees from the possibility of being subjected to arrest and prosecution for the alleged violation of laws not clearly specified in statutes."

The issue is simple. It has been our position that the company was required by law, as a public carrier to accept all messages and money orders offered by the public unless specifically prohibited by state law from doing so.

"We have always cooperated fully with the law enforcement authorities everywhere. However we have always taken the position that it was not up to stern union employees to determine who were law-breakers."

TOPS IN PRANKS

Seattle, Nov. 3 (AP)—Some prankster in unknown manner managed to place a large cardboard carton squarely atop the University of Washington's lofty flagpole Halloween night. It prevented the flag from being flown.

Yesterday the school officials hired a steeplejack to get it down—and paint the pole on his way down. It needed it, too.

Tigers Eke Out Win Over Hot Springs

In a bitter bruising battle here last night the Yerkes Tigers defeated Hot Springs by a 13-12 score. The contest was hard fought in freezing weather.

Injured Hogs Hope for Win Over Aggies

By CARL BELL

Payetteville, Nov. 3.—(AP)—Arkansas injury-riddled Razorbacks bobbled out this afternoon with high hopes but apparently no prospects of upsetting the Texas Aggies in their 25th meeting on the football field.

The weather was expected to be clear and cold with a probably soggy field as a result of a heavy snow yesterday.

Psychology should be on the Razorbacks' side. They'll be playing on the campus gridiron on which they have won 13 games, lost but three and tied one since 1946. And it's the 30th annual University of Arkansas homecoming, a celebration in which the presence of old friends is supposed to inspire the Barker athletes to Herculean efforts.

But, with at least four regulars definitely out of action and others on the doubtful list, few feel that the Razorbacks have the physical strength to make an inspired performance go for a victory.

Texas A. & M. has the best offense in the Southwest conference, featuring the running of Halfback Glenn Lippman, the league's No. 1 ball carrier, and Billy Tidwell and Fullback Bob Smith.

Arkansas will counter with a defense which has been the league's finest so far, but the Razorbacks haven't shown an offense to match their stopping ability. Their ball-driving potential is wrapped up in Lamar McLean, the running, punting and punting sophomore quarterback.

In addition to Backs Jim Rinehart and Dean Pryor and End Bill Jurney, all lost for the season, injuries are to keep Linebacker Jim Smith on the sidelines for the Porters. All have been starters and are being replaced by sophomores.

However, who, lose or draw, homecoming is a big day on this picturesque mountain-town campus, and a capacity crowd of 23,000 is expected.

The Razorback-Aggie series is as evenly matched as any. Each has met the other 13 times and two games have been tied.

Boston College End Long Grid Famine

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—The football famine is over for Boston College.

Couch Mike Holovak's Eagles ended a 14-game losing streak last night as they beat a green Richmond team, 21-7 in a driving northeast rainstorm at Braves field.

Two other major games were played in poor weather. At Milwaukee, the College of Pacific defeated Marquette, 39-27 in 18 degree temperature. The University of Louisville upset North Carolina State, 62-0 on a snow swept field at Louisville.

Boston College broke a 7-7 tie with a pair of touchdowns in the final period. Jim Kane banged over from three feet out with the tie-breaking score shortly after the fourth period opened. Later, John McCanley and Mike Mikulic moved 19 yards on ten plays and Mikulic clinched the drive from the one.

An 81-yard punt return by Bill Karnas started Louisville on its way to victory over North Carolina State. Karnas dashed through the snow shortly after the second period opened and it enabled the Cardinals to take a 6-2 lead. Louisville sewed it up with three touchdowns in four minutes in the last frame.

In the high-scoring game at Milwaukee, the College of Pacific piled up 416 yards rushing. Five Pacific backs scored with Tom McCormick leading the way with two touchdowns. Two of four Marquette linemen set up touchdowns in the last half. Pacific snapped a 20-20 tie in the third period with Wes Mitchell and Al Smith scoring to put Cop in command for keeps.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—There's a move under way to interest the Gator Bowl promoters in matching the Port Jackson, S. C., and Carroll Air Force Base (Texas) teams for the service championship New Year's day instead of trying to book a pair of top college teams, which may play hard to get.

Both teams are heavily loaded with excellent stars and figure they can't claim the all-service title unless they meet.

The Redefinition Bowl at Evansville, Ind., also is interesting and so is a Columbia, S. C., service club, which wants to stage the match there.

Leo Johnston, who scouted Michigan for Illinois, estimates that Bonnie Osterman's team has improved more than 25 per cent since it lost the first two games.

Dick Marasco, New York U. quarter miler, has accepted an invitation to run in the Sugar Bowl meet. And that's the only way NYU can get a bowl bid.

Mickey Riggs, who can sprint with or without a football.

Weak End Notes
Oklahoma's secondary defense tried to stop sophomore and a freshman, has crumbled of seven consecutive passes in two games. If a football recruiting story heard in full doesn't even concern a college, it has to do with a Western Pennsylvania scholastic star who how he turned up in a nearby Ohio was ineligible for his senior year, who also is quite a player, and the city, along with his kid brother, found a job for his widowed mother.

The Play's The Thing
Report from upstate New York had Port Washington High school had scored a 52-yard point-after-touchdown in a 40-0 victory over Hudson, N. Y., was investigated, bringing to light those facts: First kick successful, but Port Washington offside. From the seven-yard line, P. W. pushed over but was penalized for holding. Third try, completed pass from the 23; 13 yard penalty for clipping. Fourth attempt, completed pass from the 37 yard line for a touchdown. The snow forecast was not continued to the northern areas. It also reached down into the southland.

The underdog liked the weather prospects. They figured two clayey conditions would handicap their chances of making the total score a little more topsy turvy than it has been this fall.

The most traditional of the inter-sectional games, matching winless Navy and Notre Dame before some 44,000 fans at Baltimore, faced prospects of a cold rain. That was all right for Coach Eddie Egan, who considered the rain as an ally.

This series has been going on for more than two decades but only four times have the Maroons even Army, not much better off than their service brethren with only one victory to show for five games, faced the Rose Bowl-bound Longans of Southern California in New York's Yankee stadium, where, on all-night rain pelted the gridiron.

Pittsburgh journeyed to Texas to meet Rice, Missouri brought its much-talked about spread formation east for a test against undefeated and a good quarterback, and

DeQueen Raps Texarkana by 32-6 Score

By The Associated Press

Hot Springs won its first Big Six conference game in the history of the league, whipping Fort Smith, 21 to 19, Friday night. But Little DeQueen pulled the surprise of the year in Arkansas high school football.

Undefeated DeQueen, paced by the passing of Quarterback Buddy Bob Benson, trounced the suburban Texarkana, Ark., Razorbacks, 32 to 6, before 3,500 fans in DeQueen.

Texarkana, which is scheduled to join the Big Six next year, had allowed only six points in winning six decisions until they met the Leopards.

Benson passed for three touchdowns and set up two others with runs of 25 and 85 yards.

Hot Springs scored in the second quarter to grab a 7-0 lead over Fort Smith. They never were headed as they routed Fort Smith's homecoming in 27-degree weather. Clyde Hart scored twice for the Trojans, but it was Jack McMahon's three conversions that provided the victory margin.

Little Rock continued to roll over inter-sectional competition, downing Tigheham High of Paducah, Ky., 46 to 7, as big Henry Moore scored three times.

Pine Bluff's Zebras, co-leaders of the Big Six with Little Rock, played its reserves most of the way to turn back little Fordyce, 25 to 7.

Two high school games — Conway at Morrilton and Newport at Searcy — were postponed because of snow.

Speculation on Eisenhower, Truman Talk

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, Nov. 2 (AP) — Next Monday's meeting between President Truman and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will provide the chief executive opportunity to pose a question of administrative as well as a political nature to him.

Will Eisenhower leave his post of supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe to seek a presidential nomination in 1952?

If so, the President undoubtedly would like to know that now so he can advise the other member nations of the North Atlantic treaty organization, perhaps privately, they should begin thinking about someone to fill the job.

Eisenhower was appointed to the supreme command early this year in the request of the other 11 members of the NATO. He was asked essentially because of his fame and personality while serving against Germany in 1945 and Pennsylvania State met an injury-riddled Purdue eleven at Lafayette in the other top inter-sectional affairs.

Although it's usually the inter-sectional games that take the spotlight there was enough going on within the various conference circles to furnish plenty of interesting football.

No. 1 among the family squabbles was the game between undefeated Illinois and Michigan, the Big Ten champion which hasn't been beaten inside the circuit.

Some 71,000 fans were expected to stream to see if the Wolverines could stop the Illini's Johnny Karas from equalling the immortal Red Grange's record of 13 touchdowns in one season. Karas needed three to do so.

Other Big Ten contests matched Wisconsin's potent defense against Indiana. Ohio State against one-time Northwestern and Minnesota against Iowa.

The South offered two inter-conference games as its chief attractions with Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 team, from the Southeastern loop, at North Carolina, and Duke of the southern circuit at Georgia Tech, also undefeated.

The Southwest again presented an unpredictable lineup. Texas a Christian, loser of three non-conference tilts but unbeaten in the circuit, took on one-sided Baylor. Texas and Southern Methodist clashed in another contest and the Texas Aggies were at Arkansas.

While Southern California was in the East attempting to uphold the prestige of the Pacific Coast conference, other members of the league battled away in neighborhood games. Stanford, with an untarnished record, entertained Washington State. California played UCLA, and Oregon State met Washington.

In the East Princeton, seeking its 19 successive win, sent All-American Dick Kazmaier against battered Brown, with Columbia at Cornell, Dartmouth at Yale, Colgate at Holy Cross and Fordham at Rutgers in other major contests.

Chips Down in Southwest Conference

New York, Nov. 3 (AP)—Football fans, who have watched most of their gridiron sport this fall in blamy weather, drenched woods, raincoats and other bad-weather clothing today for a nationwide card headed by six inter-sectional contests.

The weatherman predicted most of today's games would be played in poor weather, ranging from chilly temperatures in usually warm climates to rain and snow. The snow forecast was not continued to the northern areas. It also reached down into the southland.

The underdog liked the weather prospects. They figured two clayey conditions would handicap their chances of making the total score a little more topsy turvy than it has been this fall.

The most traditional of the inter-sectional games, matching winless Navy and Notre Dame before some 44,000 fans at Baltimore, faced prospects of a cold rain. That was all right for Coach Eddie Egan, who considered the rain as an ally.

This series has been going on for more than two decades but only four times have the Maroons even Army, not much better off than their service brethren with only one victory to show for five games, faced the Rose Bowl-bound Longans of Southern California in New York's Yankee stadium, where, on all-night rain pelted the gridiron.

Pittsburgh journeyed to Texas to meet Rice, Missouri brought its much-talked about spread formation east for a test against undefeated and a good quarterback, and
